LEGISLATURE CALLED FOR DECEMBER 3

COUNCIL ACTS TO GET FUEL FOR HOUSING UNIT

Shortage of Fuel Oil Theatens Vets' Homes; Eagles Ask Boost in City Hall Rent.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler asked City council Monday night to take steps to insure 50 veterans and their families in the city housing unit near Lincoln Park against a fuel shortage during the coming months.

Council also heard a report from its finance committee that the Eagles lodge, owner of the building in which city offices are located, had requested an increase in the rent from $440 to $700 a month.

The 25 double unit homes in the housing facility are filled to capacity and fears have developed that the widespread difficulty in obtaining fuel oil would soon result in a serious shortage at the project.

The homes are heated by oil and veterans have reported an average supply available for about two to three weeks more. Local fuel oil dealers have been hard put to maintain the normal flow to customers in view of distribution difficulties and are not able at this time to guarantee the vets service at short notice.

In a recent conference with local distributors, Mayor Dowler learned that the pending situation may be solved by means of a 4,000 gallon tank installed at the project which could be filled when oil was available and obtained by the veterans as needed. The dealers feel that in this manner, the host of orders for small amounts of fuel oil for individual needs could be eliminated and a more or less constant supply maintained.

Council Action Asked

Mayor Dowler suggested that council consider underwriting the cost of installing the tank and securing the fuel oil. Veterans would purchase the fuel from the city. Dealers have expressed willingness to supply the pump necessary to operate the storage tank.

It was pointed out that it would definitely not be a business enterprise but merely an arrangement to insure veterans and their families from going without heat if delivery problems arise during the winter months.

Council took the problem under consideration and a special meeting may be called if arrangements can be worked out within the next few days.

The finance committee report on the Fraternal Order of Eagles request for a rental increase from $440 to $700 a month came at this time in view of the fact the present lease expires Dec. 31. The rent hike proposition was returned to the finance committee for further study.

Solicitor's Pay Raised

An ordinance was passed fixing the salary of the city solicitor as of Jan. 1, 1948 at $3,300 per year, an increase of $1,200 over the present $2,100 salary granted that office. The city solicitor under the new ordinance will be bonded at $1,000.

Other ordiances passed included additional appropriations from several funds, for 1947, including $500 from the park fund to the general fund; $2,361.48 from the general fund for labor and including a claim for $161.48; and $625 from the park fund for labor and incidentals; appropriation of $200 for payment of interest due for the period July 1 to Dec. 31, 1947 on the hospital note.

In connection with the city hospital, Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher reported a serious condition existing in respect to the roof of the hospital. Mr. Uncapher reported sheathing supporting the roof covering on the old section had deteriorated badly in a number of places causing the roof to sag noticeably and presenting a hazardous situation for patients housed in rooms below.

Police Pension Fund Request

A report from the finance committee on a request for $1,600 from the city to the Police Pension and Relief Fund to cover police pensions for the months of November and December, was filed. Fund secretary, Clyde Hardin, had previously asked council to make up a deficit that would occur before the end of the year.

Three public hearings were held concerning applications for the transfer of property from a residential to a commercial zone. All applications were granted with no opposition appearing to the requests, which had approval of the

Gen. Meyers Case Goes Into Hands of U. S. Grand Jury

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 — The justice department carried the case of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers to a federal grand jury today as the wartime money dealings of the retired Air Force officer began to explode like a chain of delayed action bombs.

Shaken from top to bottom by the charges against its one-time deputy purchasing chief, the two-month-old independent air force stripped the 52-year-old Meyers of his $549 monthly pension, took away the distinguished service medal and legion of merit awarded after his retirement, and announced he will be courtmartialed.

W. Stuart Symington, secretary of the Air Force, described as "one of the most shocking scandals ever exposed in the history of our government" the testimony before a senate war investigating subcommittee that Meyers took $150,000 in profits out of a Dayton, Ohio, aircraft parts factory while others in military aviation concentrated on winning the war.

Meyers, who has denied profiting personally from the operations of the firm involved—the Aviation Electric company — declined to comment on the latest moves against him when reached at his luxurious home in Huntington, N. Y.

Mrs. Mildred Lamarre has threatened a slander suit against the balding but dapper Meyers who swore to senate investigators that a clandestine affair with her inspired him to set up the Dayton firm with her husband as president. "All lies," Mrs. Lamarre declared at Dayton.

The justice department did not disclose in advance what charges it would level against the retired officer before the grand jury here, but officials said the indicting body would put aside all other matters until the Meyers case is disposed of. The grand jury has been in session since Oct. 1, considering routine District of Columbia criminal cases.

The senate subcommittee headed by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) suggested that on the basis of its record prosecution for war fraud, corruption, perjury and income tax evasion would be appropriate.

BIG FOUR TRIES AGAIN TO FRAME GERMAN PEACE

Ministers Look to Molotov To Produce Break in Long Deadlock.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 25—The foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France started today their second attempt to frame a peace for Germany despite the wideopen conflict between Russia and the western powers over the economic and political future of Europe.

Secretary of State Marshall met with V. M. Molotov of Russia, Ernest Bevin of Britain and Georges Bidault of France in the blue and gold council room of Lancaster house.

It was the first session of the council of foreign ministers since the four adjourned their unsuccessful efforts at Moscow last April to write a peace treaty for Austria and unify Germany.

Background of Unrest

The conference opened against a background of spreading strikes and unrest in France and uprisings in Italy which American diplomats characterized as a Russian-backed campaign to embarrass Bidault and discourage western European cooperation with the Marshall recovery plan.

The four foreign ministers were ready to take up where they left off in Moscow last April, when they failed utterly to reach agreement on peace treaties for Germany and Austria.

Stalemated then, their differences have been whetted by incessant Soviet propaganda attacks on the United States and Britain and by a wideopen fight over the Marshall plan for European recovery, and are even sharper now than when the Moscow meeting broke up.

Up To Molotov

The foreign ministers of America, Britain and France looked to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to produce a break—if there is to be one—in the east-west deadlock over Germany's future.

A check of the top British and American officials in the last hours before the new conference opened brought the information that Secretary of State George C. Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had not relaxed in the least their opposition to Russia's economic, political and reparations demands concerning Germany.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault is in a tough position, due to government upsets in Paris and strikes and unrest throughout his country.

The best information from French informants, however, is that Bidault intends to hold French policies generally in line with those of America and Britain and wait with them for Molotov to take the initiative, if any, in trying to get some positive results from this conference.

CHEST DRIVE HITS $50,744 IN CLEANUP

Service Clubs and Jr. C. of C. Continue Fund Campaign.

Shares in Marion's future have topped the $50,000 mark, figures reported at a meeting of the executive board of the Marion County Community Foundation last night showed. To date the subscriptions amount to $50,744.26 in the annual Community Chest campaign.

The Sixth ward, with a showing of 112.4 per cent, is the only working unit to reach and top its quota, figures at campaign headquarters show. Assigned a quota of $5,750, the workers turned in $6,465.45 in cash and pledges. The workers on the special gifts group, commercial and county organizations are close to their goals the figures show.

Six Marion service clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which took over the cleanup campaign work for the foundation are still working and there are many organizations and individuals remaining to be contacted according to the report sheets. These will be contacted before the campaign officially closes, the chairman, Ralph E. Carhart, announces.

A nominating committee for the annual election of officers was named and Monday night, Dec. 15 was set for the annual meeting of the Community Foundation. A. W. Kette was named chairman of the nominating committee and appointed to serve with him were C. O. Brown, Robert White, Paul Bachman and Harold Grigsby.

E. L. Cleveland, president of the foundation, presided for the meeting held in the foundation headquarters.

Snyder Proposes Huge Peacetime Bond Drive

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 — Secretary Snyder said today the treasury plans a huge peacetime bond-selling drive, and he called for keeping taxes high enough to reduce the nation's debt.

There should be no tax reduction, Snyder said, until "we have taken care of aid to foreign countries, balanced the budget, and taken care of payments on the national debt." Once that is done, he added, taxes should be revised.

Discussing President Truman's anti-inflation program as a witness before the house banking committee, Snyder declared:

▶Controls on installment buying should be restored.

▶Congress should provide funds to finance a new drive to sell government bonds to individuals.

As for maintaining a high tax level, Snyder said "it is imperative that during these times of great prosperity we should continue to collect adequate revenues over and above a balanced budget to provide a systematic reduction of the debt total.

"A reduction in the debt through a substantial budget surplus is the most anti-inflationary measure that can be taken in the fiscal field."

See Reduction In 1948

He said "a sizeable reduction in the public debt will be possible during the early months of 1948."

This pointed obviously to his conclusion that government income from taxes will exceed its expenditures despite prospective appropriation of millions for foreign aid.

Snyder said increased bond sales to individuals would help restrain inflation by soaking up potential buying power.

While the administration was pressing its request to congress for new anti-inflation weapons, it also sought voluntary cooperation to hold down spending which it contends bids up prices.

Banking supervisory authorities appealed to the 15,000 banks to curtail "all loans for speculation in real estate, commodities or securities."

Avoids Control Comment

Snyder skirted any direct comment on President Truman's request for power to impose wage and price controls and rationing, if he deems them advisable. The treasury head said these subjects would be discussed by other spokesmen for the administration.

But, for the overall program he said:

"If we fall short of our goal in foreign aid, our own freedom could be threatened by external forces; and, if we fall short of our goal in controlling inflation, we will be threatened by the danger of economic collapse at home."

On the other side of the capitol, the senate banking committee cancelled a hearing today on proposals to restore consumer credit controls. Henry J. Kaiser, west coast industrialist who was booked

Prison Siege Comes To End

69 Striking Wisconsin Convicts Surrender to 150 Officers.

By The Associated Press

WAUPUN, Wis., Nov. 25—Sixty-nine striking convicts tossed away their home made weapons and filed peacefully out of their state prison barricade today after a 15-hour siege by more than 150 heavily armed officers and guards. The four guards they had held as hostages were not harmed.

Ten minutes after a surrender ultimatum was given, the last of the prisoners had left the second floor of the laundry they seized yesterday afternoon. The prison is about 70 miles north of Milwaukee.

Deputies searched the room in which the prisoners had holed up and said they found weapons such as wooden clubs, sharpened bits of metal and lengths of pipe.

The surrender came suddenly and dramatically after the all-night siege. Despite the tense situation, there was no violence.

A public address system was set up and an order was given for the first 20 men to come out. They emerged almost immediately. A second order brought out 20 more convicts and the third emptied the laundry room.

The prisoners seized the laundry room about 4 p. m. yesterday and Warden John C. Burke said they refused to tell why they were striking.

They declared they would talk only to A. W. Bayley, director of the department of public welfare. He arrived and said Burke was in complete charge and refused to talk to them until they returned to their cells.

Police Keep Eye On Vanishing Yule Trees

Police are keeping a weather eye peeled on the Christmas greenery decorating downtown parking meters after the Chamber of Commerce reported some 20 or more meters have been stripped during the past several days.

Some 300 meters in the business district have been decorated in keeping with the Yuletide spirit and have apparently captured the fancy of early birds seeking the traditional Christmas tree.

The Chamber pointed out, however, that the little trees have been trimmed and the tops cut out, making them of little decorative value as Yule trees. Police have been instructed to keep a close watch on the meters to discourage further inroads by the overeager public.

BONDS SET FOR 51 IN FBI NET

Most of Women Held in White Slave Case Taken to Cincinnati.

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 25—The 51 men and women arrested in the FBI's sudden crackdown on an alleged ring of white slavers in Ironton, O., remained in federal custody today under stiff bonds ranging from $5,000 to $10,000.

Most of the women—20—were lodged in the workhouse at Cincinnati, 90 miles west of here, last night to await federal court action. All but three women are held as material witnesses.

When arraigned here yesterday all but six of the women demanded preliminary hearings. Each material witness was held under $5,000 bonds, none of which was furnished.

The women were transported to Cincinnati by special bus when it was discovered that the Scioto county jail, one of the largest of its kind in Ohio, was unequipped to keep the feminine prisoners because of the unavailability of a full-time matron.

Cyril Tankersley, 20, of Cincinnati, the latest person arrested by the FBI in connection with the case, also was being held in the Queen City. Tankersley was apprehended last night, arraigned before U.S. Commissioner J. Paul Geoghegan on charges of transporting a woman from Newport, Ky., to Ironton last July and jailed in default of $10,000 bond pending preliminary hearing Dec. 8.

Four Added to First List

His arrest boosted to four the number of persons arrested after the FBI went down "the line"—as Ironton's call house district is known—late Saturday. Forty-two were arrested there that night, and five others were taken into custody in simultaneous raids in California, Illinois, Missouri and Columbus, O.

Robert Worthington, 26; Elby Paul Brown, 30; Jean Elizabeth Foster, 30; Marjorie Gibson, 26; Arthur Hall, 26; James W. Mills, 37; Emma Nichols, 31; and her husband, Ollie Nichols, all of Ironton, were placed under $10,000

Vernon School Closed By Boiler Repairs

Vernon Junior High school was closed at 10:30 a. m. today for the remainder of the day because of offensive oders in the building caused by boiler repairs begun yesterday.

School will resume as usual Wednesday morning, Supt. E. E. Holt said.

The boilers are in the process of being cleaned, recaulked, and recovered. What started out to be a minor repair program necessitated major repairs when it was discovered each section of the boiler needed recaulking.

What smelled like ammonia gas from the new cover permeated the building choking pupils and teachers.

Cardinals Sold, Hannegan To Quit Cabinet

Heads Syndicate Buying Ball Team; Now Postmaster General Named.

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 25 — Sale of the St. Louis Cardinals to a syndicate including Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan and Fred Saigh, St. Louis business man, was announced today by President Sam Breadon.

At the same time it was announced in Washington that Hannegan has resigned his federal post, effective Dec. 1.

Breadon said Hannegan would be president of the new organization.

The 72-year-old Breadon, long-time head of the Cardinals, said he could not disclose the purchase price.

Earlier unofficial estimates placed the price at about $3,500,000, which would make it the biggest sale of its kind in history.

The deal presumably included the Cardinals' chain of 16 minor league clubs, but Breadon did not immediately clear up this point.

Hannegan attended the news conference Breadon held at his office.

The Cardinals, who have won nine pennants and six world championships, were at their low water mark when Breadon first became a small stockholder in 1917, making what he later described as a $2,000 "donation" during a community stock sale.

"I considered it just a contribution to keep baseball in town," he said.

The following year the team's finances were so low that the club was forced to forego the expenses of spring training in the south and worked out on Washington university field here.

NEW MILL HERE TAKES FIRST BAR OF STEEL

Pollak Christens New Equipment in Ceremony Today.

The first bar of steel went through the new 14-inch finishing mill at the Marion plant of the Pollak Steel Co. this morning.

Appropriate ceremonies marked the dedication of the new mill by company President Julian A. Pollak of Cincinnati in the presence of company officials and employes.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler threw the main switch that set machinery in operation shortly before 8 a. m. He was greeted at the gate by R. H. Knecht, works manager, E. J. Baxter, personnel manager and George Shappard, president of United Steelworkers Local 2721 of the CIO.

After the mill had been christened by President Pollak who broke a bottle of water from the cooling system, veteran head rollers James Ruby and Martin Burke processed the first bar of steel.

Employes attending the ceremonies cheered the operation and requested that the first bar be cut into souvenirs to mark the dedication of the new mill. Remarks by company officials were carried over a public address system as was music accompanying the ceremonies. E. F. Walsh, company representative from Cincinnati handled the microphone.

Officials reported the new mill "off to a flying start, aided by the excellent cooperation of company employes."

HERBERT SETS REALTY SHARE OF VETS' BONUS

Says Property To Finance $75 Million of Payments to Ex-Servicemen.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today called the Ohio legislature into special session for Dec. 3 and announced real estate owners would be asked to finance only $75,000,000 of the $300,000,000 soldier bonus.

The governor, arranging the special session for consideration of a seven-point emergency program, requested the legislature to appropriate an additional $20,000,000 in general revenue funds to the bonus.

Gov. Herbert, announcing the date today, said the program would require "several days" of legislative work.

Explaining the expanded bonus proposal, Herbert said the financial status of the state "was such that it could stand spending on the bonus. Herbert explained it would be a "wise expenditure of the surplus" and would result in indirect tax reduction.

Source of Funds

The additional $20,000,000 for the bonus, together with $25,000,000 appropriated from the postwar reserve fund and $180,000,000 to be taken from the general revenue fund at the rate of $1,000,000 a month will leave a maximum of $75,000,000 plus interest charges to be financed by a real estate levy over the next 15 years.

No. 1 item on special session agenda, Herbert and legislative leaders agreed, will be restoring that section of the state gas tax law giving the state highway department money for road construction. The regular session of the assembly this year inadvertently cut the department out of its share of the one and one-half cent construction levy of the state gas tax, and gave the money to municipalities.

Since the cities received "several million dollars" from this error their request that local governments be given 40 per cent of state sales tax receipts about the $95,000,000 a year figure will be turned down at this time, the governor said. No attempt will be made to force cities to repay the "extra" gas tax money.

Repeal of the state liquid fuel tax of one cent a gallon also was scheduled because a constitutional amendment, approved Nov. 4, limits the use of gas and motor vehicle license taxes to highway purposes.

Gas Tax To Go Up

The gas tax will be increased from three to four cents a gallon. There will be, however, a decrease of one cent for motor vehicle fuel not used for highway purposes at a cost to the state of an estimated $1,000,000 (million) in revenue.

Herbert said he also would request the legislature to (1) reenact the new law fixing a flat $10 license fee for passenger autos, making the effective date March 1, instead of April 1 so 1948 licenses could be sold at the $10 fee starting March 1; (2) Appropriate additional funds to the state welfare department for institutional care of state wards and to allow the state to match, on a 50-50 basis, poor relief expenditures of local government, and (3) give the state liquor department authority for one year to make out-of-state bulk sales in order to reduce its heavy inventory.

Gain for Local Areas

The governor also announced that local subdivisions would gain some $3,000,000 through an adjustment in distribution of gasoline taxes.

This, with the poor relief funds, would provide the subdivisions with a total of $6,360,000. The governor said this is his answer to a request by the Ohio Association of Cities for additional funds through sales tax collections.

Of the local funds, townships will gain $575,000, municipalities, $800,000 and counties $1,350,000.

Referring to the bulk liquor sales, Liquor Director Dale Dunlap predicted that if the proposal would result in sale of some 175,000 to 240,000 cases 85 per cent of which would comprise cordials, rums and brandies.

DRIVE ON HOLLYWOOD REDS STRENGTHENED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—Reinforced by a thumping vote of confidence by the house, the committee on un-American activities pressed forward today in its determination to drive Communists out of Hollywood.

As Speaker Martin went through the formality of sending contempt proceedings against 10 screen writers, producers and directors to the United States attorney for prosecution, Chairman Thomas (R-NJ) told newsmen the committee is laying plans to resume its Reds-in-Hollywood hearings.

The 346 to 17 tally by which the house upheld the committee's contempt citation against screen writer Albert Maltz yesterday was one of the heaviest votes of confidence the committee has received since it was created nine years ago.

So one-sided was the count that opponents did not demand roll-call votes on the other nine citations. They are against:

Alvah Bessie, Lester Cole, Ring Lardner, Jr., John Howard Lawson, Samuel Ornitz and Dalton Trumbo, screen writers; Edward Dmytryk, and Herbert Biberman, directors, and Orian Scott, a producer.

The ten were among several score persons who testified before the committee here last month. The contempt citations were voted because they declined to give "yes" or "no" answers when asked if they were members of the Communist party.

'KNOW HOW' ON FARMS URGED

Farmers Told of Threat to Their Freedom Unless They Produce with Efficiency.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25—American farmers must achieve high efficiency in all farming operations or "pay the price of loss of freedom" by working for others who use the know hows," Research Director George D. Scarseth of the American Farm Research association said today.

"High efficiency in all the farming operations from the soil to the consumer is the sure way the American farmer can use to retain his cherished freedom," Scarseth asserted in a speech prepared for delivery before the twenty-ninth annual convention of the Ohio Farm Bureau.

Farmers who cannot learn business principles—"to farm efficiently and on a competitive basis" are placed "in a precarious position," he continued.

Education, he went on, is "the burden of becoming efficient in farming today."

Cites Example

As an example, he cited the agronomists, chemists and animal scientists who "have facts that would lower the cost of production, improve quality and retain the land resources."

"Yet we typically produce 1,000 bushels of corn on 20 to 40 acres when there is everything to gain by producing the 1,000 bushels on 10 acres or less," Scarseth added. "Those who cannot learn business principles must pay the price of loss of freedom by working for others who use the know hows."

He then outlined this "preamble for the American farmer:"

"We the American farmers in the state of Ohio, * * * set forth these basic premises as objectives we must strive to attain in the operation of our farms:

"(1) to make a living, (2) to retain our land resources, (3) to lower the costs of production, (4) to improve the quality and marketing of our products, (5) to remove drudgery, (6) to save on work, (7) to make farming pleasant, (8) to produce abundantly, (9) to live neighborly, and (10) to make a profit—that to omit any one or more of these premises is to be negligent in our responsibility as citizens and intolerable to ourselves, and to measure fully to each is to set a pattern of promise and hope for all the world."

Iowa Man Speaks

Scarseth's talk highlighted afternoon sessions o fthe second day of the three-day conference. Allan B. Kline, president of Iowa Farm Bureau, was to talk on the "interests and responsibilities of farmers, national and international tonight at the annual banquet.

Delegates were asked to approve 113 resolutions yesterday, among them one attacking special taxes on cooperatives. The resolutions will be voted upon tomorrow.

Four new trustees were elected and three others reelected to three-year terms. New trustees are W. G. Pfaff of Thornton, Dewight Heckathorn of Forest, Fred Van Buren of Basil, and E. J. Cook of New Vienna. Aden F. Huber of Degraff, George H. Dunlap of Cadiz and Robert Peelle of Sabina, were reelected.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—President and Mrs. Truman will have turkey and most of the fixin's on Thanksgiving day, but they will also conserve food.

The turkey will be stuffed with an oyster dressing. "because it takes less bread and no eggs," she said. And mince pie will substitute for the customary pumpkin pie because pumpkin pie requires eggs. No bread will be served.

The President and his family will dine with a few personal friends at 7 p. m. Thanksgiving day.

STRIKE THREATENS TELEGRAPH SERVICE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 — A threatened strike of 50,000 Western Union workers raised the prospect today that President Truman might invoke the "national emergency" section of the Taft-Hartley labor law for the first time.

Negotiations between the Western Union Telegraph Co. and Representatives of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, the Telegraph Employes union and the Telegraph Workers union, all AFL affiliates, have broken down over demands for a 15 cent an hour pay boost.

They announced late yesterday that a strike ballot is being taken among the 40,000 CTU members, 5,300 TEU members and 4,000 TWU members and that the vote is expected to be completed in the next ten days.

Attorney Frank Bloom, speaking for the three unions, told a news conference that if the workers authorize the strike—and he left no doubt that he expects no other result—an actual date for the walkout will be set by union leaders.

The three AFL affiliates represent Western Union employes in 3,000 offices across the country. Metropolitan New York would be the only major area unaffected by a strike. The CIO Communications association represents 7,000 workers there.

A strike call would pose for Mr. Truman the question whether such a communications tieup would represent a national emergency affecting the nation's health and safety.

COLUMBUS COUNCIL DEFERS TAX ACTION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25—City councilmen took no action last night on a proposed one-half of one per cent payroll-corporation income tax.

Instead, they scheduled a public hearing for Friday.

Council President Joseph R. Jones had announced before the session last night that the council would approve the measure during its meeting.

Opponents of the proposed tax, including representatives of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor, filled the council room.

The decision to delay action came after a short closed conference of council members and a 10-minute discussion between Jones and George Denucci, regional representative of the CIO, and Paul J. McCarthy Sr., president of the Columbus Federation of Labor.

William Lavelle, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO council, told council that the proposed tax ordinance "violates every principle of the income tax law." He said it provided no consideration for dependents, no graduated rate, no deductions for charity contributions or medical expenses.

He added that he did not think the financial emergency, partly created by approval by the voters of a 40-hour week for city firemen, was as great as reported.

Since mid-1930 the U. S. population has increased more than 14 million.

OHIO WAR VET REPORT GIVEN

Shows Readjustment to Civilian Pursuits; Lists Participation in Benefits.

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Ohio veterans of World War II are doing a pretty good job of readjusting themselves to civilian pursuits.

That conclusion was drawn today by the research council for economic security of Chicago, in its study of veterans' readjustment problems in the United States.

"From September, 1944, through July, 1947," the report stated, "more than 215,000 Ohio veterans had received at least one check for unemployment benefits, or about three veterans out of 10.

"Payments totaled $77,985,000, ranking Ohio ninth among the states, although Ohio is fifth in the number of veterans of World War II with 776,000 ex-GI's now living in the Buckeye state."

According to Gerhard Hirschfeld, director of the research council, Ohio veterans have been generally successful in finding civilian employment. This is indicated in self-employment benefits of $4,610,000 to 8,000 veterans, ranking Ohio 25th in the nation.

The report also showed that one out of every six Ohio veterans is now receiving government-sponsored on-the-job training or education under the GI bill of rights.

"As of October 1," the report stated, "71,898 veterans were enrolled in Ohio educational institutions, plus an additional 4,908 disabled veterans. Another 46,476 ex-servicemen were receiving job training, of whom 8,758 were disabled."

The research council said that as of Oct. 1, there had been 59,702 loans negotiated by Ohio GI's for home, farm or business purposes. The loans totaled more than a third of a billion dollars, with 92 per cent of them for home purchases.

"At the same time," the report continued, "almost 130,000 Ohio veterans of both World wars were receiving disability compensation or pensions totaling about six million dollars.

Payments for service-connected disabilities ranged from $13.80 to $360 a month, depending on the degree of disability."

The report added that 971 Ohio veterans have received automobiles from the government under the "autos for amputees" program. The cars presented an outlay of $1,545,105, or an average of $1,591.

On Oct. 1 there also were 6,443 veterans confined in four veteran hospitals and one domiciliary in Ohio.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

To clear up confusion, the consort of Princess Elizabeth stands in the same relation to the throne as the man who married his mother-in-law stood to her stepson's bank account.

He knew it was there but he never could draw a check on it.

Anyway he is entitled to be called "His Royal Highness" along with a dozen other guys who haven't any thrones either.

But I still don't understand a fellow giving up a nice revolutionary country for the dull life of a husband.

Still he gets $18.83 more a week in the navy for support of his wife . . . and who else could make money by getting married these days?

Over here people are being driven to attend political banquets in order to get something to eat.

Thanksgiving Service At Scientist Church

A Thanksgiving Day service will be held by the First Church of Christ Scientist on Thanksgiving Day morning at 11 o'clock in the church edifice, Church street and Mt. Vernon avenue.

The Thanksgiving proclamation by the President of the United States will be read, and a special lesson-sermon entitled "Thanksgiving" will be given. The text for the sermon will be "O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt His name together."

Hymns will be sung by the congregation and scriptural selections will be read by the readers. Similar services in observance of Thanksgiving day are held by the mother church, the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, Mass., and its branches throughout the United States.

Galion Jaycees Favor City Manager Set-up

Special to The Star

GALION — Sponsorship of a city manager form of government for Galion was approved last week by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its regular meeting. The Jaycees have already started a study of city manager charters which are in effect in other cities to determine a workable type for Galion.

Woodrow Crissinger is the Jaycee committee chairman of governmental affairs. His committee will function to include charter study, hiring of speakers and visits to cities under the city manager system. At the end of the study, the Junior C. of C. will present its findings to the public.

Last week the Galion Rotary club at its regular meeting went on record to appoint a committee to study the city manager form of government.

France Goes To the Right

EMERGENCE of Robert Schuman as France's new premier brings to power a man identified with middle-of-the-road Popular Republicans, who have lost heavily to the De Gaulle forces. Schuman came to power because, unlike Leon Blum, he was ready to make concessions to the Gaullists.

In exchange for Gaullist support, Schuman chose a cabinet with a rightist tinge. Facing a Communist threat and acute economic trouble, the French government is like the Arab who let the camel get its head in his tent. Eventually the Arab found himself out in the cold and camel in possession of the tent. That may be the fate of the French middle-of-the-roaders, yet it was a choice between Gaullists and Communists.

Relying on parliamentary democracy, the parties of the center traditionally have held the power in the French republic, but the last elections indicated the center is losing its grip. The right has been gaining, the center has been losing and the Communists have been holding their own. If the time comes when De Gaulle takes over, it will be a grim day for France. The Communists will be driven underground, and Marty Casanova and the other French Red advocates of seizure of power by force will be heard from.

Making Late Amends

LAST June the state department fired seven employes because their loyalty was deemed questionable. They were discharged "with prejudice" and without recourse to appeal because the confidential nature of their work precluded the advisability of open hearings.

Now the department has reconsidered and will let the seven resign "without prejudice." It also has taken steps to see that in future cases all its employes have the right to appeal to the loyalty review board.

The department reverses its decision after the damage has been done to the seven employes. While their names never have been officially made public, they have been published and one was refused a university appointment because he was deemed a security risk.

While any government employe who has access to secret information should be of unquestioned loyalty, the fact that the department reversed its policy is its own admission that it acted hastily and unfairly. Any dismissed government employe has the right to a clear record or a chance to defend himself if his dismissal is to be with prejudice.

The way to preclude all this trouble, of course, is to see that employes are thoroughly investigated before they are assigned to work which gives them access to confidential information.

"Here's Your Hat"

THE Washington correspondents who write political think-pieces are speculating about why Gen Bradley was named Gen Eisenhower's successor as chief of staff so far in advance of Eisenhower's retirement. The implication is that President Truman has said to Eisenhower, "here's your hat. What's your hurry?" The President knows potential presidential timber when he sees it and may prefer to have Eisenhower out as chief of staff.

There is yet another gentleman in uniform who is mentioned as a possible candidate—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose present address is APO 700, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco. He is due to return to this country early next year. If he gives as good a performance as Eisenhower in denying presidential ambitions while leaving a loop-hole for possible acceptance of the nomination by acclamation, he, too, may be handed his hat.

Better Luck Next Year

OHIO State's football team has completed as grim a season as it has had since the days when the big game was with Oberlin. The 1947 Buckeyes were surprisingly inept at times, yet in their final game they fought hard and well while losing 21-0 to a Michigan team considered far superior.

In bygone years, such a record as the Bucks compiled this season would have resulted in cries for a new coach, and the rumble of the tumbrel would have been heard in Columbus' High St. But this year the disposition seems to be to give Coach Fesler sympathy and encouragement.

Ohio State fans were supposed to be a sensitive lot, taking each defeat as a personal affront. This year they showed they were good losers. The team called, with amiable sports-page hyperbole, the Scarlet Raiders of the Olentangy, should do better next season.

Did You Know

Although the first Japanese attacks on the Philippines in World War II were launched from Formosa, there was no ground fighting on the island during the war.

Balsa means "raft" in Spanish and was applied to the wood after Spanish explorers found Indians of South America using rafts made of it.

The peony, which Spaniards believed was a rose, was named after Paeon, a court psysician of early Greece, who was reputed to have used the juice of the plant to heal a wound.

Additional Reminders for People of U. S.

NOW that we are to give Europe additional billions of dollars in terms of goods and services, it is wise to go back to Bretton Woods, where the World bank and the international fund were created to see precisely what it was that the American people were told.

Henry Morgenthau, in explaining the need for a World bank, spoke roseately of the investment of private capital in the war-devastated countries when peace comes. The world bank was to do this:

"... With abundant capital, the devastated countries can move steadily toward rehabilitation and a constantly improving standard of living. Nothing could be more conducive to political stability and to international collaboration. Without adequate supplies of capital, however, recovery in Europe and Asia will be slow and sporadic, and economic discontent and international bitterness will in time assume disturbing proportions."

SOKOLSKY

Nothing of the sort happened. In a word, hope springs eternal in the human breast—but what are the facts?

Quoting Roosevelt

Franklin D. Roosevelt, in 1944, in his message to the Bretton Woods delegates, said:

"... Commerce is the life blood of a free society. We must see to it that the arteries which carry that bloodstream are not clogged again, as they have been in the past, by artificial barriers created through senseless economic rivalries.

"Economic diseases are highly communicable. It follows, therefore, that the economic health of every country is a proper matter of concern to all its neighbors, near and distant. Only through a dynamic and a soundly expanding world economy can the living standards of individual nations be advanced to levels which will permit a full realization of our hopes for the future."

Prosperity and Poverty

To quote Henry Morgenthau again:

"... Prosperity, like peace, is indivisible. We cannot afford to have it scattered here or there among the fortunate or to enjoy it at the expense of others. Poverty, wherever it exists, is menacing to us all and undermines the well-being of each of us. It can no more be localized than war, but spreads and saps the economic strength of all the more-favored areas of the earth. We know now that the thread of economic life in every nation is inseparably woven into a fabric of world economy ..."

The International Latex corporation, Playtex Park, Dover, Del., presented an advertisement "as a public service," in which it is stated:

"Today (1945) we have a second chance to build a structure of lasting peace. We all know there will not be a third. That is why we have joined the other United Nations to plan the political machinery for preventing aggression.

"And that is why, at Bretton Woods, we joined in planning the machinery for expanding world trade, for assuring prosperity, jobs and security for all peoples."

Keynes' Prediction

John Maynard Keynes, chairman of the British delegation to Bretton Woods, told that conference that there would be a "crisis" without the World bank, but that "it would be a great mistake" to confuse the bank, the stabilization fund and the long time it will take Great Britain to repay her debts, exclusive of lend-lease, which he placed at $12,000,000,000. Keynes also said that as a result of Bretton Woods, the international fund would make gold "a monarch subject to constitutional limitations," whatever that might mean. Of course, the fund has long been in existence, but if gold is any kind of a monarch, it is one without a throne.

Sumner Welles wrote:

"... But the surest way of guaranteeing the profitable participation by the American people in world trade in the future will be through their realization that international commerce will not exist unless international confidence and international purchasing power are restored, and that such restoration will be immeasurably retarded unless they are prepared to cooperate fully with other nations in the establishment of such agencies as those planned at the recent monetary conference."

Well, there is a lot more of the same, but none if it has worked out as suggested. Instead came the British loan, the stop-gap financing and the various Marshall plans. The roseately optimistic still continue singing that only American billions are necessary to save us from the next catastrophe. What saved us from the last crisis?

Austerity Where Is Thy Sting?

From London it is reported that the Philip Mountbattens—she was Princess Elizabeth—are going to live in a mansion 122 years old.

Everywhere, the story is the same: New houses are at a premium.

There's one thing about moving into a place that old. It won't be any time before there'll be the patter of little feet around the house . . . . only in this case, of course, it'll be mice.

Incidentally, the Mountbatten residence is right next door to Buckingham palace. This will be convenient later on when they want to leave the kids with her folks and take in a show.

The house in question is four stories and contains several score rooms . . . a honeymoon cottage, king size.

It'll be hard, unless she has a cleaning woman in a couple of days a week, to keep it up. But it'll be nice, during the first lean years of their married life, to be able to supplement their income by taking in a few roomers.

A Lecture by Sokolovsky

By Joseph Alsop

BERLIN

THE most significant single episode in recent months here in Berlin was a lecture delivered by Marshal Sokolovsky to his German economic and production experts. The Marshal unburdened his sorely tried spirit behind closed doors, at the Soviet headquarters at Karlshorst. By now, however, the substance of what he said is accurately and reliably known in the headquarters of the Western powers. His words are worth weighing carefully.

ALSOP

The scene itself must be imagined—the Karlshorst conference chamber, heavily guarded by Red army soldiers; the serried ranks of German economists and engineers, most of them terrified; the be-medaled marshal, marching in with his staff, and brusquely calling the meeting to attention. There is no imagination, however, in the following report of what he said.

With all the terrible authority of the Kremlin's commander in Germany, Sokolovsky began with a threat. If considerable increases in industrial production were not shortly achieved in the Soviet zone, it would be necessary to find other work—positions in the uranium mines perhaps—for the irresponsible German experts. Production deficits were serious, considerably surpassing the margin of error permitted in the Karlshorst planning. Sabotage was also widespread. If it continued, it would be necessary to consider removing the entire working forces of whole factories to more suitable employment in the mines. The situation was grave, and had to be reported directly to the Kremlin.

"Remedies" Listed

Having thus declared his discontent, Marshal Sokolovsky then went on to remedies. In an order soon to be issued, industrial workers in the Soviet zone would be given generous inducements to higher production. At the same time, observers and inspecting teams would be established in economic administrations and factory offices, to discover instances of inefficiency, slackness, or incorrect political orientation. These spies would be directly responsible to Soviet headquarters. All ofenses reported by them would be punished with the utmost severity. No excuses for failure would be accepted, since the honor of the Soviet zone demanded that its industry should not fall behind the zones of the West.

Finally, the Marshal turned to the moral and mental improvement of the Germans assembled before him. To assist them in their task, he said, they must acquaint themselves with Soviet history and the successes of the Soviet nation. For this purpose, Colonel Tulpanov, chief political officer of Soviet headquarters, would deliver a weekly seminar. Attendance records at these seminars would, of course, be kept.

Day of Reckoning Here

Attempts to increase production by political seminars by Colonel Tulpanov may seem a trifle comic. None the less, there was and is a grave economic reality behind Marshal Sokolovsky's curious harangue. The Soviet zone has been living on its economic fat from the end of the war to the present—operating factory machines at full speed without repair or replacement; using up stocks of all raw materials without finding sources of replenishment; and sending to the Soviet Union an unbearably high proportion of its output, both agricultural and industrial. Now the time of reckoning has come.

It is impossible to synthetize a general picture from the scattered local reports which are available, but one can at least say that all these reports point to the conclusion that the general picture is very bad. In the vital heavy industry branch at the Krupp Gruson works, for instance, it was recently discovered that twenty per cent of the raw material was being sold on the black market. At Unterwellenborn, forty per cent of the iron castings were ruined by an incorrect mix, most probably because high sulphur content Russian ores had been used for want of better. At the Rostock shipyards, a huge number of instruments and equipment all ready for installation were destroyed by improper storage. These items are representative.

Nor is the failure of the Soviet zone to produce all that the Kremlin wants the most meaningful aspect of the situation. The pressure for loot from Germany is unremitting. It has led to the adoption of all sorts of extraordinary devices. Buying offices have been established in Berlin to secure silver, gold and jewels at staggering prices, which the Soviets can afford to pay by the simple expedient of printing more reichsmarks. Occupation costs are met by distilling the potato crop into schnapps and selling the schnapps to the people. Strange deals are made in the guise of socialization such as the deal by which the government of Land Saxony was forced to accept the heavy deficit of the local copper mines, while the highly profitable copper refineries were bought for Soviet account.

He's Got To Be Very Careful

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Nov. 25, 1927.

Rain and dismal weather forecasts for Thanksgiving day did not materialize until late in the afternoon. The day for the most part was balmy with the thermometer going to 53, compared with a high of 28 the preceding year. The low the preceding night was 40 and the year previous it was 20.

William E. Manahan, 69, of Franconia avenue, retired Marion Steam Shovel Co. employe, died of a heart attack while hunting on the Jerry Ruhl farm near Cardington.

Miss Margaret E. Hickson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George Hickson of Caledonia and Finn F. L'Orange of Cleveland were married by the bride's father in Memorial M. E. church at Caledonia.

Rev. Henry Maag, pastor of the Prospect Street M. E. church, was speaker for the union Thanksgiving service held at Epworth M. E. church.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Cox of Logansport, Ind. were guests of Mrs. Cox' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hoover of East George street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Nov. 25, 1927.

A report of three alienists decreed that George Remus of Cincinnati was sane when he killed Mrs. Remus in a towering rage. The decision was announced during the trial, which was attracting nationwide attention.

About 225 delegates, including 15 from Marion churches, attended the Booth festival and convention of Epworth Leagues of the Delaware district of M. E. church.

View of a European Communist

By Walter Lippmann

AT the end of a long conversation which I had with one of the most important Communists in eastern Europe, I asked him whether in view of all his harsh condemnation of American purposes, politics and actions he thought there would ever be a world settlement. "Certainly," he replied. "And when do you believe it will be reached?" I asked. He said in about three to five years.

His answer, it seemed to me, as I thought about it afterward, threw a great deal of light on many things which he had said in the course of the whole conversation which preceded it. Thus he had complained bitterly that his country was being denied credits which it was entitled to have.

LIPPMANN

He had told me quite candidly that his government had wanted to participate in the Paris conference but had been forbidden to do so by Satlin himself. He had said that as between economic advantage and the political security of the Russian alliance, the country had no choice but to choose the alliance.

But he had said also, though in a different part of the conversation, that having studied the Paris report, he now knew that his country, which needs capital goods, would have gotten little immediate advantage out of participating.

Then he went on to discuss the Marshall plan. In the first place, he said, your congress will not now give enough help to save the middle class social structure of Great Britain and France. In the second place, the help you give will carry with it the condition—and here he cited Harold Stassen—that Europe must give up socialism.

In the third place, you will insist as you have already in Italy and in France, that you will not help countries which have Communists in their government. Yet the Communist will be able to show that production cannot be carried on anywhere on the continent without the Communists to impose discipline upon the workers.

In the fourth place, the more the plan fails to bring production in the western countries, the more you will try to rebuild German heavy industry.

You will, he said, speaking with mounting enthusiasm, become more and more unpopular with the masses of Europe. They will see that your promises have not been realized. They will see that your dollars are being used to destroy their independence by stopping the socialism that they want.

They will see that you are vetoing the formation of united national fronts. They will see that you are subsidizing them only because you want to use them for the war you are preparing.

Argument in Rebuttal

After all this had been said, and I had had my say in rebuttal—though without any effect—I asked him whether he thought Europe and Russia as well could recover from the war without great help from the United States. "No, they cannot," he said.

"Then why," I asked him, "do you do your best to prevent us from giving help?" "Oh, well," he answered, "you will have to give it, anyway, and we can wait until you have to give help and cannot demand a political price for it."

And when will that be, I inquired. When you have your great economic crash which will come when you are overproducing and cannot, being a capitalist country, sell all your goods to your own people and must therefore export.

Now, he said, you are able to pretend that you are the great philanthropist offering to help poor Europe, but when you have your 15,000,000 unemployed, your government will have to subsidize exports to Europe to make your own factories profitable again.

This, in condensed form and translated from his Marxist jargon and stripped of the propagandist trimmings which he did me the honor of not expecting me to believe, is a pretty fair picture of how an intelligent and responsible communist looks at the present situation and the near future.

His final prediction that there would be a general settlement in three to five years can, I think, be restated in the light of the conversation which I have reported. His theory was that an economic crash, greater than that of 1929, is certain to occur within the next five years.

Before it occurs he believes that we shall not grant enough aid to Europe to save the predominantly middle class society of Great Britain and France, that to this insufficient aid we shall attach political conditions which will turn gratitude for the help into resentment against our politics.

It makes my head swim to think of the the brass could crack down on a screwbal billy, still dazed from a speedy induction, appropriated an extra supply of canned e jimmied a slot machine or swiped a cold ch chicken from the mess. Dear Nephew: I envy people who know t other people are all good or all bad. It must so much simpler that way. You don't have to fa[ce] or even intelligent. So and so is a d skunk. That's that. So and so is wonder That's that.

Not only people but things are either all g or all bad for these lucky souls. No halfw stages. They're 100 per cent for you or 100 cent against you. If they're for you, everyth you do is right, even if it's wrong. As I say envy people like that.

They know everything about everything. Th have no doubts, no misgivings, no qualms conscience. They never have to wonder whet they may have been hasty in their judgme They know that so and so is a liar, a cheat racketeer, an opium smuggler, the he would his grandmother and beat his children. Th know.

They know that some other guy never mad false move in his life, is the soul of honor, fountain of wisdom, the best companion w ever lived, the most considerate husband, most generous father, the finest neighbor, most perfect gentleman and so on. It certai must simplify living to be able to feel that w But I wonder where they find the people fill the bill. I have been looking for a lifeti and never have found anyone I could class as all good or all bad. Of course I have le sheltered life and never have had a chance chum around with the kind of people who complete rascals, so maybe I'm just ignora

But on the other hand I haven't had a cha to be friendly with any perfect types either T finest folks I know are full of flaws, all of th in plain sight. I haven't the slightest doubt ev one of them has behaved like a skunk on so occasion, just as I haven't any doubt that skunks all have had their intervals of nobil

Consequently, I waste a lot of my time try to figure out the angles on these people, o looking the bad as much as possible in order see the good. Or if I happen to be peeved, may overlook the good in order to see the bad. I don't have time to keep track of all of it. T whole thing leaves me puzzled and mixed.

That's why I envy the people who don't ha my trouble. I'd like to be able to look at fellowmen and classify them for all time to co as either all bad or all good. It would be so mu simpler. On top of that, if I also could class ideas the same way, I could quit trying to be r and probably have enough time left over to be big success.

The turkey is ready. I detect a sad look in eye. I think he knows the worst. Regards to family.

COUNTY FARM AGENT LIONS CLUB SPEAKER

Arthur Smith Discusses Rural Phase of Thanksgiving.

Arthur H. Smith, county agricultural agent, was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions club Monday at Hotel Harding. He spoke on "Thanksgiving."

County agent here for five years, Mr. Smith works with rural groups, 4-H groups, Granges and farmers. He talked on Thanksgiving in connection with rural life and gave a comparison of the number of farmers in relation to the number of people in the city. In 1820, he said the comparison was 314 on the farms to 30 in the city, and 50 years later, in 1870, the comparison was 154 on the farm to 170 in the city.

Mr. Smith said he believes Thanksgiving is our one truly American holiday, and gave reasons for his belief by explaining that it was 156 years from the time the Pilgrims landed in 1620 until the Declaration of Independence was signed in 1776.

He added that at the first Thanksgiving, the people met and gave thanks for the possibility of being able to exist and establish a new society. He said that people lived closer together at that time and developed patterns of thinking and idealism.

Plans were made for several members of the club to attend an organization meeting of a Lions club in Galion today. An announcement was made that four new Lions signs had been purchased and will be erected in the near future at various corporations of the city with the committee headed by Carl Meddles in charge.

Robert Axe gave a brief report on the Lions bazaar, and John Peacock and Harry Seiter, co-chairmen for the bazaar, were praised for the fine work which they did. The booster prize was won by Richard Denman.

Guests were Robert McCollister, Ray Harper and Luther Mitchell of the Exchange club, and Lion member Harold Thomas of Prospect.

Patient's Outlook Studied in Arthritis

Personality and mental outlook have a close connection with physical well-being, and of late years medical science has come to believe that they also have a very real bearing on disease. Victims of stomach ulcer, for instance, are apt to be high-strung, or over-tense, nervous individuals.

Will the future show that rheumatoid arthritis, which today cripples and painfully disables so many in the United States, also has a personality background?

At first glance the answer would seem to be an unqualified "No." Rheumatoid arthritis is inflammation of the joints which, is untreated, will eventually deform and destroy them. Any connection between this process and mental make-up would seem farfetched and yet many doctors believe that among arthritic patients one type seems to dominate, namely, the lonely perfectionist type of person.

The man or woman who develops arthritis is one who carries an emotional burden. Frequenty lonely, he is likely to be indrawn. It is not enough for him to do a job as well as the next man. He strives rather to compete with his own solitary ideas of perfection and hence drives himself hard. Since perfection is difficult to achieve, he is frequently dissatisfied and unhappy.

In treating arthritis, all these factors must be taken into consideration because they may have some influence on the patient's resistance. And in the absence of one specific treatment for arthritis, he feels that the best hope of overcoming it lies in building up and encouraging the body's natural resistance to disease.

Every angle of the patient's life must be studied. Diet, rest, exercise, work and other activities all need attention.

If the patient has any infection in the tonsils, this should be cleared up. If he is suffering from constipation or irregular bowel movements, a normal routine may be established. Some patients need rest. On the other hand, certain others may be upset by the restriction of their activities. In a number of cases, relief from pain is the main requirement. Many patients need assurance that the deformities and the disabilities may be overcome or at least improved to a great extent. All need the encouraging and friendly interest of the physician.

Further studies to determine the cause of arthritis are advisable. A great deal of scientific research eventually will be necessary to find just what produces this disease so that more specific forms of treatment may be developed. Until that time, attention to diet and the patient's general health and mental outlook must be relief on in treating this disorder.

Often the services of a specialist in orthopedics are required so that deformities may be prevented or relief obtained by proper operative measures.

Questions and Answers

T. W.: I have halitosis. It is not a dental condition. What causes it?

Answer: Bad odor of the breath may come from several things, such as infected teeth, bad tonsils, adenoids, or infection of the nose or nasal sinuses. The most frequent cause is found in the teeth, where there may be cavities or lack of cleanliness due to insufficient care of the mouth and teeth, and not eating bulky foods.

Sometimes, infected material lodges in, or back of, the tonsils, or particles of food will be found in crypts; this gives a disagreeable odor to the breath. Similar difficulty occurs in infections of the upper part of the mouth or nose. Foul breath may likewise be due to constipation or dyspepsia.

In any case where bad breath occurs, a thorough examination should be made to determine the cause. When this is found, the condition can be quickly cleared up.

RESTRAINING ORDER ASKED AT GALION

Attorney Files Suit In Electric Power Controversy.

GALION, Nov. 25—It was indicated today by a member of the city board of control that no action will be taken on the two bids for outside power to supplement electrical energy generated by the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant, until after hearing on an injunction, now pending in the Crawford county courts.

A temporary restraining order for the purchase and delivery of a diesel generating unit for the plant was filed by Attorney Kenneth M. Petri, as a taxpayer, in common pleas court, Bucyrus, at 11:40 a. m. Monday. Five minutes later Judge Clarence U. Ahl of the Crawford county court issued a temporary injunction and set bond for the plaintiff at $10,000. No date for the hearing has been set.

Action Against Officials

The temporary injunction restrains the three defendants named, Mayor William Amann, Service Director K. A. Polster and City Auditor Gloyd Frye from consummating the purchase of the diesel, paying any more on it, or accepting the diesel if it should arrive in Galion.

Acceptance of one of two bids on supplementary outside power, or rejection of both, is now pending. Decision on the bids has been withheld by the board of control until decision on the purchase of the diesel was determined.

Attorney Petri said Monday his action should settle the issue. He based his taxpayer's suit on the fact that the purchase of the diesel was illegal for eight reasons.

TWO MOTORISTS FINED

Denton, 25, of Galion was fined $15 and costs on a charge of reckless operation of a motor vehicle when he appeared in municipal court Monday. He was arrested by police at 12:14 a. m. Sunday on Orchard street.

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL SAYS:

"Dealers Handling Kaiser-Frazer Cars Offer the Highest Trade-In Allowances"

"I hope that's true of our dealers everywhere!" says Joseph W. Frazer

I don't know that all of the more than 4,000 Kaiser-Frazer dealers are offering "highest trade-in allowances," as reported by the press, but I sincerely hope so. For personally, I feel that the used-car allowances being made by many automobile dealers today are far too low.

We have constantly urged our dealers to offer fair trade-in allowances, based on what cars will bring when they are re-sold, less the cost of handling and reconditioning.

Such fair practices, we tell our dealers, will build for them sound and continuing business.

Before you come to a decision on your next car, I hope you will find out what your Kaiser-Frazer dealer will allow you on your old car. Dealing with him, you'll not only receive fair treatment on both sales and service, but you'll get the most modern automobile built today.

MORE ERIE DIESELS ON MARION RUN

Three New Freight Locomotives Delivered to Road.

Special to The Star.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25—Signalizing another major advance in its postwar program of equipment improvement, the Erie Railroad took delivery over the weekend of three more heavy-duty diesel locomotives scheduled for high-speed main-line freight service, President Robert E. Woodruff has announced.

Ordered in June last year, these powerful streamlined four-unit 6000-horsepower engines will haul freight trains of up to 110 loaded cars over the hilly grades of the Kent and Mahoning divisions, Mr. Woodruff said.

This diesel-powered prime-moving equipment, made by Electro-Motive Division of General Motors at La Grange, Illinois, supplements six similar four-unit road diesels, each of 5400 horsepower capacity, which have been operating since 1944 over a 209-mile run between Marion, O., and Meadville, Pa.

Now, with the acquisition of the new diesels, Erie's chief executive explained, service of all nine locomotives will be extended 107 miles from Meadville to Salamanca, N. Y., making a stretch of 316 miles between Marion and Salamanca which these freight units will cover in hauling through freight trains in each direction.

Within the next few weeks the Erie will start to add nine more four-unit, 6000-horsepower road freight engines to its rapidly growing diesel locomotives fleet. Now under construction and about to be delivered by the American Locomotive Co., and the General Electric Company at Schenectady, N. Y., these new "Alco" locomotives will go into freight service exclusively between Hornell, N. Y., and Jersey City, N. J., immediately upon delivery.

Mrs. Oscar Levant Asks Separate Maintenance

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25—Mrs. Oscar Levant, the former June Gale, actress, alleges her pianist husband was a cause of "mental pain."

She asks $36,600 a year of his income estimated in her separate maintenance suit at $200,000 annually, her complaint also said he holds community property worth $500,000, with $200,000 in cash and negotiable securities.

The Levants, married eight years ago, have three daughters, Marcia, 7; Lorna, 5, and Amanda, 2, whose custody Mrs. Levant asks.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

ARGUMENTS pro and con, principally pro, raced through my mind at Faith's challenge. The teachers at the nursery school have told me that she has little more to learn there, and that, in fact, when she leaves she easily can skip first grade and go directly into second, if we wished, something Dicky and I have not yet decided.

But I knew that she would miss little by a day's absence, and considered the truth that perfect attendance at the nursery school is not the shibboleth that it is in the grades.

Then, too, I guessed that Olina, who has constituted herself Faith's escort to and from the school ever since Mary's arrival from the sanitarium, might very likely welcome a day's respite which would give her uninterrupted musing over the startling impact of Georges' safe return, and the imminent marriage he had proposed.

"No," I said, smiling at my small daughter's upturned face. "You need not go to school either today or tomorrow, when I shall be gone. But the next day, when I am here, you must go again."

"Sure thing," she said non-chalantly. "I'll be there with bells on," and we all smiled at this echo of Katie's miscellaneous "dated" slang.

"But I'm tootin' glad I don't have to go today or tomorrow," she added, and Katharine intervened swiftly to avert the reproof which she knew was hovering on my lips.

"I'm 'tootin glad,' too, Faith," she said, and Faith's gaze was avidly curious.

"Why?" she demanded.

"Oh, no particular reason," Katharine said, "except that I need you here when your mother's gone, and I'm busy with Cousin Mary."

But the grateful look she tossed to me, told me that with me gone, she would be uneasy every second that Faith was out of the hotel, and that she comprehended the consideration for her which had prompted my decision on the second day's absence.

"Then everybody's happy," Faith said with so satisfied an air that we choked again, and I was grateful when the waiter's knock sounded on the door.

We were almost through the meal when Noel appeared, and I escorted him to the next room where Mary awaited him. Then I sent an imploring glance to Dicky which he read correctly.

"Faith," he said, "how about you and me making a picnic of the rest of this meal? Let's put all the rest of our grub on a tray, and I'll take it in to the table in your nursery bedroom, and we'll eat it there."

"That will be perfectly scrumptious," Faith decided and added matter-of-factly, "then Mummy and Aunt Katharine can talk without us disturbing them."

"Dicky-bird," Katharine pleaded. "Will you do the eliminating job precipitously? I'll not be responsible for my risibles unless you do."

Faith turned a questioning stare on her.

"What do those funny words mean" she demanded, added "Please" as she caught my eye.

"I'm just practicing for a queer letter I have to write," Katharine answered promptly, working fast, as I was to get Dicky's tray ready. When he had safely shepherded our offspring out of earshot, Katharine and I collapsed in helpless laughter.

"She'll be the death of me, that child," she predicted for the hundredth time. "She's going to be either the first woman president of this here country, or the glamorous leader of an international bandit gang."

"Let's toast our deliverance from this particular situation in another cup of coffee," I told her.

"Madge, the life saver!" she intoned, holding out her cup. I poured one for her and one for myself. We drank them leisurely, finishing our food with them, and I telephoned down for the waiter. Then I rang the Philip Veritzen apartment, and Olga answered.

"I hope Olina isn't awake yet," I said.

"Indeed she is," Olina's regal mother answered. "She's almost ready to come up after Faith."

I tipped a mental chapeau to the intrepid exiled princess, who let nothing interfere with her daily duties, and spoke rapidly.

"Faith isn't going to school either today or tomorrow," I said. "Today, we're all going to visit Mother Graham at the hospital, and tomorrow, I'll be gone, as you know, and we think it best for Faith to remain here with Katharine."

QUESTIONS BRITISH USE OF U.S. LOAN

Marion Legislator Continues Attack on Marshall Plan.

Congressman Frederick C. Smith, of Marion, again addressing the house yesterday on the Marshall plan asked: "Would the socialist regime of Britain use the lend-lease proposed under the Marshall scheme to rehabilitate the economy? Or would it use such aid as it has used the four billion dollar gift-loan and other gratuities provided it to aggrandize its power and further enslave the people of that country?

"The very nature of socialism ought to supply the answer.

"Winston Churchill said something that pretty sharply points up the answer to this question. He stated in the house of commons: ". . . what is so particularly odious and mean, and what has caused this deep schism in our island life, is that the sacrifice so nobly made for victory . . . should be used and exploited for party purposes and for the institution of a system of socialism . . . the government's socialist policy comes first and the welfare of the people comes second."

"If, as Churchill says, the socialist forces of Britain preyed upon the blood bath, through which the people of that country so valiantly struggled, to gratify their lust for power, for what other purpose could those forces possibly use any aid our country might provide them?"

THREE INJURED HERE IN TRAFFIC MISHAPS

One Pedestrian and Two Motorists Hurt in Accidents.

Three persons were hurt, one a pedestrian, in two traffic accidents reported to police Monday.

Jackie Hutchinson, 7, of 339 Fies avenue received a bruised left shoulder when he walked into the side of a trailer being towed behind the car of C. E. Dall, 37, of 410 Glad street about 1 p. m. Dall who was traveling north on Latourette street just north of the Jackson street intersection said the lad walked into the left wheel of the trailer and was knocked down. He reported taking the youth to his home apparently not seriously hurt.

When the brakes on his car failed to operate, Sam Arcuri Jr., 20, of Ypsilanti, Mich., attempted to pull off the street at Center and Davids street into the Marion Power Shovel Co. parking lot. The car failed to make the gate entrance and crashed the fence on the north side of West Center street. Arcuri and a passenger Violet Gardner, 21, of 18 Fountain street, were injured, the former receiving a cut on the forehead and the latter lacerations of the knees and bruises on the forehead. They were taken to City hospital in the Hughes ambulance for treatment and later released. The car was removed to the McDaniel garage by a wrecker. Both the car and the company fence were damaged. The mishap occurred shortly after 2 p. m. as Arcuri was coming east on West Center street.

The federal communications commission yesterday authorized the railway to install public toll telephone service on two of its passenger trains operating between Orange, Va., and Cincinnati, O.

YUGOSLAVS RELEASE U.S. SOLDIERS

By The Associated Press

TRIESTE, Nov. 25—The U. S. Army public relations office said six American soldiers taken into custody yesterday morning by Yugoslav troops were released to American authorities today.

Names of the six men and details of the manner in which they were taken into custody, held and released will be made public in 48 hours, under the terms of a new regulation, public relations said.

(In Belgrade it was reported that Premier Marshal Tito had issued an order to his troops on the Austrian and Trieste free territory borders that all military personnel who stray over the line in an "obviously accidental" manner are to be released immediately.)

TOLEDO MILK SUPPLY SHUT OFF BY STRIKE

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 25 — Milk was available only by doctor's prescription today in this city of 280,000 as a strike affecting seven major dairies entered its fourth day.

Dairy officials announced needs of invalids and children would be met by two dairies if persons called at the plants with prescriptions. Deliveries are being made to hospitals and institutions.

Employes voted last night to reject an offer of a 12½-cent-an-hour wage increase. The union originally asked a 25-cents-an-hour boost, but local president Franz Berlacher said it now was asking 20 cents.

Toledo's seven major dairies closed Saturday after 125 inside workers struck the Ohio Clover Leaf Dairy Co. The six other dairies were closed by their officials on the grounds the Clover Leaf strike was against a contract in effect with all members of the Toledo Milk Distributors association.

Raw milk normally delivered here is being sent to condenseries in Ohio and Michigan.

PRINTERS STRIKING ON 6 CHICAGO PAPERS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 25—More than 1,500 AFL printers employed by Chicago's six daily newspapers were on strike today but spokesmen for the newspapers said publication would continue uninterrupted.

The strike became effective at 9 o'clock last night but the three morning newspapers, the Tribune, the Sun and the Journal of Commerce, already had published early Tuesday morning editions. The three afternoon dailies, the Daily News, the Herald-American and the Times, planned to have near normal size editions on the street at the regular time, spokesmen for the newspapers said.

All of the dailies planned to publish by mean of typewritten copy reproduced by a photo-engraving process. The strike is confined to the newspapers' composing rooms.

The first edition of the Times was out on schedule. Picket lines which the union described as "token" were set up immediately after the decision to strike. There was no disturbance at any of the plants or any attempt to halt editions.

In its final edition today the Tribune used the photo engraving process to print a three-column story on the strike, which was substituted for its usual front page cartoon. The Sun used the same process for the back page giving strike highlights in its final edition.

Spokesmen at the three afternoon dailies said operations in getting out the first edition were "going along nicely." The Times, which like the Sun is of tabloid size, planned to publish a 36-page edition whereas under normal conditions a 52-page would have been printed. The News planned an edition of 34 pages, "about normal," and the Herald-American planned "at least 30 pages, also about normal."

The Tribune, in a statement on the strike in today's final edition after the composing room employes quit work, said it intended to publish daily and Sunday and "the other Chicago newspapers likewise intend to continue publication."

The composing room workers left their jobs in the plants last night on orders of the executive committee of the AFL Chicago Typographical Union local No. 16, after union officials announced the printers had voted 2,330 to 61 in favor of a strike.

The union's wage demand to the publishers yesterday was rejected. In a statement the publishers said that wages were not the issue and the only issue was "the union's no-contract policy." About 1,700 members of the local had approved a union demand that wages be increased from $85.50 a week to $100 for day workers and from $91 to $106 for night and early morning workers.

Smallpox Case Stirs Ohio City Into Action

By The Associated Press

CONNEAUT, O., Nov. 25—City health officials, alarmed over the illness of a six-year-old grade school pupil, today ordered mass smallpox immunization of all school children and also recommended adult vaccinations.

An emergency shipment of serum was expected by air from the state health department. City doctors were asked to form teams to administer the serum in the city schools.

City Health Commissioner J. G. Constantine said Barbara Goodiel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Goodiel, was ill with smallpox. It was the first case here since a small epidemic 32 years ago, and the only one in Ashtabula county in 20 years.

The available serum supply here after the girl's illness was diagnosed as smallpox was sufficient only for the immediate family, the health commissioner said.

SAY FRENCH PREMIER MAY DRAFT WORKERS

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 24 — A general strike of French railwaymen was called tonight by the National Federation of Railroad Workers.

* * *

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 25—Sources close to the new French government hinted today that Premier Robert Schuman might order conscription of workers in key jobs as one means of fighting Communist-led strikes now threatening the whole economy of France.

These informants said Schuman might make one last offer of increased wages before cracking down on the strikers, now estimated to number more than 1,000,000 men.

The mails and most railway lines were engulfed in the creeping paralysis that spread from the docks of Marseille during riots there two weeks ago. Most French waterfronts, shipping combines, the Paris schools, flour mills, building trades and heavy industries such as chemicals, metals and machinery, all were tied up by strikes.

Although the mayor managed to escape, the demonstrators asserted they would continue to occupy the building until their ultimatum is accepted.

Chicago Grain Market High Marks Reached

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 25—December and May wheat futures established records at the opening of the board of trade today. The December delivery sold as high as $3.16 a bushel for a new 30-year record and was pushing toward the all-time high of $3.25 established May 11, 1917.

With May wheat selling at $3.01 at the opening, it was the first time in the history of the board that two wheat deliveries have sold above the $3.00 mark, December oats held at a record high in early trading.

Election Board To Look Into Vote Discrepancy

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 25—The Crawford county board of elections last night set Dec. 1 as the date for a hearing to inquire into the cause of the Nov. 4 election vote discrepancy that temporarily elected the wrong man to a seat on Galion city council.

R. L. Ganshorn (D-inc.) was announced winner over J. A. Anker (R) by seven votes in a contested election in Galion's third ward. A recount made by the county board last week found Ganshorn had been defeated by 89 votes. The election board laid the mistake to carelessness.

The name of the man selected for the key bonus job will be announced by the state sinking fund commission tomorrow.

Newsmen asked the governor last night, following a sinking fund commission meeting, if there was a possibility Goble would be appointed.

He said legal complications were being studied since he wants Goble to continue as adjutant general. Herbert added that Goble would receive no additional pay above his present salary if selected.

"My present opinion," Herbert continued, "is that Goble is the man most available and most equipped for the job.

Yesterday's commission meeting was the first official conference since a constitutional amendment adopted Nov. 4 added Herbert and State Treasurer Don Ebright to the commission.

State Auditor John T. Ferguson, commission chairman by virtue of his office, said at the end of the closed session that "everything was very harmonious." Rules and regulations will be adopted tomorrow, and a legal counsel appointed.

CARNEGIE TECH QUITS BIG-TIME FOOTBALL

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25 — Carnegie Tech, which nine years ago played in the Sugar Bowl, will never return to big-time football because "the only way to maintain a class A team is to sacrifice education," Tech President Robert E. Doherty declared today.

Doherty told some 3,500 students at the annual Carnegie Day celebration:

"We can not have both Class A football and professional education unless we set football up as a side-show with special educational programs for the squad. This, we will not do!"

The 1947 Tech football team, recruited mostly from engineering students whose last class ends at 4:30 in the afternoon, did not win a game this year. However, it was an improvement over the 1946 squad which also did not score a point.

For years Carnegie Tech was a football power in the east, upsetting favored Notre Dame elevens. They defeated the Irish 19-0 in 1926 in a game Notre Dame Coach Knute Rockne was so sure of winning he didn't bother to attend. Instead, he went to Chicago for the Army-Navy game.

After our crash, on the other hand, he believes that we shall be compelled to give greater aid in order to cure our own unemployment and that when that help comes, the post-crash help, we shall no longer have anything like our present influence on British and French and Italian policy, on the Germans, and on the terms of the settlement in Europe and in Asia.

Communist Premises

If we examine this Communist conception of the near future, we find, I think, that it rests on two major premises. The first is that we cannot and shall not be able to regulate in the inflationary boom effectively enough to prevent a deflationary collapse.

My Communist had studied Karl Marx but had never heard much about John Maynard Keynes.

The second major premise is that our diplomacy, as we try to operate the Marshall plan, will be so blinded by our dollars and our air force and our atomic bomb that it will misjudge the political sentiments and the political realities of postwar Europe—that in our anti-Communist fervor we shall get into bed with the Nazis, the Fascists, the collaborators and the Quislings all over Europe, that we shall treat the Marshall plan not as an engine to restore the unity of Europe but as a fund to provide lend-lease to those nations and those factions and parties within each nation which make the loudest anti-Communist noises.

The second major premise of the Communists is, in short, that we do not have the diplomatic vision and skill and astuteness to make the Marshall plan work.

Marion Angels To Close Season Thursday with 740 A. C

To Meet Unbeaten Colored Team In Second of Thanksgiving Day Series.

Marion Safety Cab Angels play their last game of the season here Thursday afternoon in the second game of a Turkey day series with the undefeated all-colored 740 A. C gridders of Columbus who began the series with the Angels last Thanksgiving and went home 18 to 6 losers.

Angel backers hope the Turkey day game with the A. C's will become an annual event in Marion Last year the Angels gave the Columbus team their only loss of the season

A. C.'s Unbeaten.

The A. C.'s are unbeaten again this year, but have three tie games on the books—including one with the Columbus Middleweight Champions, the St Clair Big Four, also undefeated but with only one tie.

In three years, only the Marion Angels and the St Clair elevens have been able to turn back the tough 740 club

The Angels expect the 740 A C's to add to their strength Thursday with college stars home for vacation Last year Ohio Stater Jimmy Clark played for them against the Angels, and this year Ira Blackwell, another Buckeye, leads the 740 team and the Middleweight league in scoring Clark, while not expected to appear here Thursday, will play basketball for the 740's Blackwell is a former Columbus West star

Angels Rusty.

The Angels have not played since their Nov. 9 tilt with Fort Wayne St. Joe and Coach Gene Fetter expects to meet a little difficulty in getting his gridders in the swing again. A scheduled game with Covington Nov 16 was called off and last week the Angels had an open date

The Angels will be looking for their sixth win They have four losses on the record Game time is 2 p m

NOTRE DAME NO. 1 AGAIN IN AP POLL

Irish-Southern Cal Game To Decide Final Rank.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 — Notre Dame has regained the No. 1 spot among the nation's football teams from Michigan after another nip-and-tuck battle in the weekly Associated Press football writers poll.

The Fighting Irish from South Bend, Ind., and the Rose Bowl-bound Wolverines are separated by only 30 points although Notre Dame drew 97 first place votes to 81 for Michigan of the 192 cast. In the point column it is Notre Dame 1,798 and Michigan 1,768.

While Michigan wound up its season Saturday with a 21-0 decision over Ohio State, Notre Dame still has an important Dec 6 date with Southern California, the fourth ranking club. This contest probably will determine the final rankings.

The total vote with points figured on a 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 basis (first place votes in parentheses)

1	Notre Dame (97)	1798

BRELSFORD SLIPS TO LOSE BIG LEAD

North Carolina's Milne Wins N.C.A.A. Cross Country.

By The Associated Press

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 25 — James Milne, of North Carolina university, took advantage of two breaks in the last quarter-mile of the ninth annual N.C.A.A cross-country run here yesterday to win in 20:41.1 over a four-mile course slippery with four inches of snow.

Quentin Brelsford of Ohio Wesleyan, defending individual champion, slipped and fell only a quarter-mile from the finish after leading most of the way Bob Karnes of Kansas university then took the lead but ran off the course

Mike Stavole, Miami university, was seventh

Penn State won the team competition with a low score of 60 points by placing men in the 2, 3, 12, 17 and 26 positions. It was the first team win for Penn State and marked the end of a three-year rule by Drake university, which placed third.

Syracuse was second with a 72 score, compiled by placing men in the 6, 7, 15, 19 and 25 positions. Drake had 131 for third and Purdue and Indiana, who tied in the Big Nine meet last week, tied for fourth place here, also

Senators Mad, Buy Brown Infielder Who Quits Game for Pix

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—Owner Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators said today he will demand an investigation of his recent trade with the St Louis Browns for Johnny Berardino who subsequently has revealed that he is quitting baseball for the movies.

Griffith, who stands to lose second baseman Gerry Priddy and a reported $25,000 in cash on the deal, said he will appeal immediately to Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

"If the St. Louis club had any inkling that Berardino planned to quit baseball, the deal is off," said Griffith.

"If they didn't know anything about his plans, then it's just our tough luck," he continued "We lose Priddy and the money, too"

The Washington owner said that if the deal is voided by Chandler, he will try to trade Priddy to some other club

Berardino, a 30-year-old second baseman whom Washington acquired Saturday, announced at his Los Angeles home last night that he has signed a seven-year motion picture contract.

BOUDREAU SIGNS FOR 2 YEARS WITH TRIBE

Cleveland Fans Happy with Retention of Manager.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25 — The Cleveland Indians have retained shortstop Lou Boudreau as manager, which is what the fans of this baseball-minded city wanted.

The handsome Frenchman signed a two-year contract at a "substantially increased" salary during a six-and-a-half hour conference with Tribe President Bill Veeck in the stadium office yesterday.

Neither Veeck nor Boudreau, who at 24 succeeded Roger Peckinpaugh as Cleveland manager in 1941, would discuss terms of the agreement.

Veeck did, however, tell questioners it "amounts virtually to a two-year contract" and explained if Boudreau were traded to another team which wanted him only as a player, the Indians would be obligated to pay Lou the equivalent of his managerial salary through 1949.

Before Boudreau left for his home last night, he made it plain to sportswriters that if his hard work can give his loyal friends here a pennant-winning club, they can start anticipating the series

Dave Templeton Elected Captain of 1948 Buckeyes

Marion's Chuck Fazio, Upper's Snyder Among Those Who Get Letters.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25—Capt. Bob Jabbusch's running mate at guard on the 1947 Ohio State university football eleven—burly Dave Templeton—today was captain-elect of the 1948 squad.

This fall's lettermen named Templeton, who prepped at Mansfield High school but now calls Bedford, Ind., home, as the 1948 field leader during an election prior to the annual appreciation football banquet last night. Jabbusch announced his successor at the end of the dinner.

Both Head Coach Wes Fesler and Athletic Director Richard C. Larkins said they were looking forward to "happier days next fall." The Bucks won only two games, finished last in the Big Nine conference, and shared the dubious distinction of having the worst record in the school's history. Thirty-six varsity men and one student managers were awarded monograms.

Commends Fesler

Dr. Earl W. Anderson, chairman of the athletic board, read a resolution commending Fesler for his fine influence on the squad and their intense loyalty to him."

Templeton, a handsome six footer, has played every position but tackle and center. He could have completed scholastic requirements for graduation by next spring, but elected to remain at O.S.U. because he still has another year of athletic eligibility.

At 26, the captain-elect was the second-oldest player on the squad. The kicking specialist, Emil Moldea, is 29. While Templeton earned his letter at guard this season and in 1946, he previously tried his hand vainly at nearly every other position attempting to win a coveted "O."

By electing a lineman, the varsity continued the forward wall's monopoly of the field leader post. Not since 1942, when quarterback George Lynn led the Bucks to the national title, has a back captained the team.

Jack Jennings of Columbus, a tackle who missed all of last season because of a broken arm, was awarded the Ohio State Journel Quarterback club's trophy, presented to the first-year man who showed the most improvement as the season progressed.

The 1947 lettermen, as announced at the banquet:

Dale Bonnie, Columbus; David Bonnie, Columbus; Robert Brugge, Parma; Michael Cannavino, Cleveland; James Clark, Columbus; Ollie Cline, Fredericktown; Jameson Crane, Columbus; Robert Demmel, Fremont, Ray DiPierro, Toledo; Howard Duncan, Lakewood; Charles Fazio, Marion; James Hague, Rocky River; Forest Hamilton, Cleveland; Robert Jabbusch, Elyria; Jack Jennings, Columbus; Brenton Kirk, New Philadelphia; Jack Lininger, Van Wert; William Newell, Columbiana; Emil Moldea, Akron; Fred Morrison, Columbus.

Richard O'Hanlon, East Liverpool; Peter Perini, New Village, N. J.; Charles Renner, Akron; Pandel Savic, Girard; Dean Sensanbaugher, Uhrichsville; Richard Shannon, Akron; Richard Slager, Columbus; Thomas Snyder, Upper Sandusky; Rodney Swinehart, Wooster; Howard Teifke, Fremont; David Templeton, Bedford, Ind.; Alex Verdova, Lakewood; Joseph Whisler, Willard; Jack Wilson, Xenia; Robert Dorsey, Houston, Tex.; William Doolittle, Mansfield.

Manager for 1948—John W. Welch, Springfield, O.; manager (1947), John P. Abercrombie, Cincinnati, O.

MUNCIE OUTFIELDER IN B LOOP DRAFT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25—Class B league baseball teams drafted 47 players from circuits of lower classification yesterday as the "mail-and-telegram" minor league draft continued.

Teams from the Big State league of Texas and the Three-Eye loop grabbed the most players, each league calling for 11 men. The Interstate league drafted seven, Piedmont and Tri-State loops five each, the New England circuit four, the Southeastern league three and the Western International one.

Draftees included:

Trenton, N. J.—Moe Cunningham, outfielder of Anton, Ia., from Youngstown, O., of Mid-Atlantic league.

Evansville, Ind. — Robert Montag, outfielder of Cincinnati, O., from Muncie, Ind., of Ohio State league.

Waterloo, Ia.—Harry Anderson, first baseman of Akron, O., from Youngstown of Mid-Atlantic league.

Wesleyan-Rollins Game Cancelled Despite Branch Rickey's Intercession

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 25—The man who brought the first Negro to major league baseball tried fruitlessly to combat the racial customs of the south which caused cancellation of a football game between Ohio Wesleyan and Rollins college elevens.

Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers and a trustee of the Ohio school, personally entered a conference of officials of the two schools here last Friday, the acting president of Ohio Wesleyan disclosed last night.

But Rollins college—faced with Florida custom which says a Negro and a white man can not compete in public—cancelled the Nov. 28 game the next day.

Ken Woodward of Columbus, a Negro, is an Ohio Wesleyan star and Wesleyan trustees were adamant in refusing to order Woodward not to participate in the Rollins game.

Rickey, a deeply religious man, broke precedent once before, signing Jackie Robinson, a Negro, to play first base for his National league champion Dodgers.

Dean C. E. Ficken, acting president of Ohio Wesleyan, said Rickey attempted to sell Dean of Men A. D. Enyart of Rollins college the idea the game could be played with Woodward in the Wesleyan lineup regardless of state custom.

The Dodgers' President is much closer to the Wesleyan athletic setup than an ordinary trustee. He obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree from Wesleyan in early days of the century, then acted as its director of athletics in between seasons as a major league ballplayer.

Chappuis Esteemed By Ohio State

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25 — Bob Chappuis, Michigan's nifty halfback, came the closest to being a unanimous choice on the all-opponent team selected by Ohio State university football varsity players.

Chappuis received 32 out of 34 possible votes. His backfield mates on the all-opponent team are Indiana's George Taliaferro, Purdue's Harry Szulborski and Michigan's Howard Yerges.

The all-opponent line had Bob Mann of Michigan and Pat Cleary of Southern California at ends, Joe Ferrare of Southern Cal and Pat O'Reilly of Purdue at tackles, Harold Brown of Indiana and E. Sumpter of Pitt at guards, and Lou Levanti of Illinois at center.

Breadon To End Wonder On Cardinal Sale Today

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 25 — Whether Sam Breadon will sell or retain his famous and profitable St. Louis Cardinals, long a subject of rumor and denial in baseball circles, was expected to be given a definite answer today—by Breadon himself.

Breadon called a conference of newspaper and radio men in his Sportsman's Park offices at 10 a. m.

He promised an announcement concerning what he plans to do, not only with the parent club, but also his extensive minor league holdings.

According to these unconfirmed but persistent reports, Breadon will sell his holdings for a price said to range from $3,500,000 to $4,000,000 to a group of men headed by Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan of St. Louis, the movie magnate brothers, Charles, George and Spyros Skouras; Edwin W. Pauley, California oil man, and Sidney Salomon, Jr., St. Louis insurance man. The Skouras brothers are former St. Louisians.

Chesterville and Johnsville fielded teams for the first time this fall. They and Caledonia, LaRue, Claridon and Prospect of Marion county make up the Double-M league.

Mickey Mayne of the Brooklyn Dodgers hauled back a Buffalo Bill field goal attempt 100 yards last year to set a record that will never be broken.

GRAHAM SETS ALL TIME PASSING MARK

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 — Otto Graham, rifle-armed passer of the champion Cleveland Browns, gave the biggest shove last week-end as numerous All-America conference and all-time professional football records were pushed from the boards.

All-America conference individual statistics, released today, show that Graham has set an all-time record for passing yardage and has bettered three existing offensive marks in his own circuit.

Graham completed 13 passes for 325 yards in the Browns' spectacular comeback against the New York Yankees Sunday at Yankee Stadium to push his aerial yardage to 2,505 in 12 games. The previous best mark in pro football was Sid Luckman's 2,194.

Graham's 325 yards by passing which enabled the Browns to gain a 28-28 tie after trailing the Yankees 0-28 set a new conference aerial record for one game. His 335 yards for the day, ten by rushing, also cracked the single game offensive mark of 322 held by New York's Spec Sanders.

Capital Capers

By Frederick Othman

WASHINGTON

THE ladies (bless 'em, and are you listening, President Truman?) turn out to be among America's leading grain speculators.

Many are the housewives who go shopping for a package of bobby pins, a half pound of butter, two spools of thread and—oh yes—May wheat on margin.

There are more women than merchants plunging into the razzle-dazzle of the Chicago wheat pit. They're playing the commodity market as though it were bridge at a quarter cent a point.

OTHMAN

The female who looks like she's heading to the grocer's for a package of corn flakes probably isn't. She's on the way to her broker's to order March rye.

President Truman, as you know, for months has been denouncing grain speculators. Charges 'em with hoisting the price of food. So a joint economics committee of congress called in his experts to see what they intended to do about the grain gamblers.

Number one was J. M. Mehl, commodity exchange administrator. He said first you had to know who they were. He knows. He asked all the grain brokers to tabulate their customers on one particular day. This was quite a chore, but they finally came up with the figures for Sept. 17.

On that day—one single day, mind you and on one single grain exchange—308 housewives bought and sold 11,112,000 bushels of grain. Much of it hadn't even been planted then.

On that same day less than half as many professional grain merchants on the Chicago board of trade did about a third that much business.

EVERYBODY, SEEMED LIKE, was gambling in corn and wheat, Mehl said. Six preachers on that historic day in September bought and sold 62,000 bushels of futures. Six household servants, including butlers and parlor maids, proved once again that domestics are in the big money. They bought twice as much grain as the clergymen.

Mehl listed all the gamblers: stenographers, butchers, barbers, judges, actors, artists, chiropractors, dentists, newspaper reporters (not Othman, Mr. Truman), nurses pharmacists, school teachers and real estate agents.

The thing to do, Mehl added, is pass a law forcing 'em to pay at least half cash for their speculative orders. That, he said, should cool their fever and "fever" was the word he used.

"Are you trying to protect fools from their folly," Asked Sen. Ralph E. Flanders of Vt. "Or is there some broader reason?"

Mehl said it was the ohter way round; he was trying to protect the market from the fools.

"I THOUGHT WHAT HE WANTED was a depression in grain prices," observed Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, the chairman.

"Yes, but not from the 50th floor to the sub-basement," retorted Mehl. "And that's what happens when speculation gets out of hand."

The gentleman from Ohio, looking particularly ruddy-faced since his presidential campaign tour, had another question: could Mehl show any evidence that the speculators, including the feverish ladies, had boosted the price of wheat?

Mehl said it was the other way bet they kept the price from going down. There you are, Mr. President and ladies. Some members of the sex which howled the loudest about the high cost of living were betting on Sept. 17 that it would go higher still. It did. No telling what their profits were.

CITY GETS CONVENTIONS

BOSTON—Boston had 318 conventions this year and during 1948, 225 already are booked. The 1947 convention delegates are estimated to have spent more than $8,500,000 here.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

WHY do France, Italy and Austria need $597,000,000 (millions) in help from us?

Don't they have any money at all to buy what they need? Are they that broke. The answer is simple:

They have their own money but they don't have enough dollars to buy what they need from us.

If the three countries were turning out enough goods to export to us they could sell those goods to us for dollars.

MARLOW

In that way, they'd lay in a supply of dollars with which they could buy from us the things they need.

They've done a number of things to get hold of as many dollars as they could rake together.

France, for instance, got some Frenchmen to sell to the French government, for francs, their holdings in this country.

In this way the French government was able to convert those holdings here into dollars with which to do buying here.

But to make things worse, the higher prices rose in the United States, the less could be bought with the dollars the French scraped together.

Another thing—and this was true pretty generally in Europe—a lot of grain was lost last winter by a freeze and in the summer by a dry spell.

SO FRANCE HAS to import more grain than she would have had to if the crops had been better.

The state department figures that between Dec. 31, 1947, and March 31, 1948, France will have to spend for what she needs from us about $556,000,000.

But, says the state department, France won't have that much in dollars to spend. She'll only have $228,000,000 to spend. That means she'll need another $328,000,000 in help from us.

The same story can be told for Italy and Austria. They still have some dollars to spend but not enough to buy what they need to get through the winter months.

BY NEXT MARCH 31, here's the story for the three countries:

France—She'll need to spend $556,000,000; she'll have only $228,000,000 in dollars to spend; she'll need $328,000,000 help from us.

Italy—She'll need to spend $386,000,000; she'll have only $159,000,000 in dollars to spend; and she'll need $227,000,000 in help from us.

Austria—She'll need to spend $73,000,000; she'll have only $31,000,000 in dollars to spend; and she'll need $42,000,000 in help from us.

The three countries—to the value of $597,000,000—will need food, fuel, fertilizer, seeds, medical supplies and cotton.

WANTS TO PLAY PIANO DUET WITH PRESIDENT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25—Unless he loses his nerve, Ohio's champion National Guard recruiter, William H. Diltz, intends to take up a matter of piano playing with President Truman this week.

The fact is, the 32-year-old soldier said, he's always had a "yen" to play a piano duet with Mr. Truman, and he's going to put it right up to the Chief Executive.

Diltz and the recruiting winners from the other states will meet the President and shake hands with him late this week. Later, they will attend a military ball and the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia.

A former professional musician who played with Gus Arnheim's orchestra, Diltz said that if Mr. Truman accepts the duet offer, he probably will suggest "The Missouri Waltz," the President's favorite.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—Modest recoveries continued for individual stocks today although many market leaders failed to shake off minus signs.

Caution remained the watchword among Wall Streeters pending more light on business situations, foreign affairs and congressional moves.

Dealings slowed after a fairly lively start. While gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed near midday, numerous losers persisted.

Occasional improvement was shown for Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Great Northern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio, Kennecott, J. C. Penney, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, General Motors and Chrysler. Backward at intervals were Republic Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Deere, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, North American, Standard Oil (NJ), Baltimore & Ohio and N. Y. Central.

Gas Co. Appeals Ruling On Heating Unit Ban

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25 — The East Ohio Gas Co. today filed an appeal with the Ohio supreme court from Summit county court decisions holding that the company could not enforce its order of last Feb. 6 barring installation of new gas heating units.

The appeal developed from the original suit of Robert S. Newman of Akron, who sought installation of gas heating in new buildings. Common pleas and appellate court decisions favored Newman. Hearing date was set for Dec. 18.

The city of Akron recently appealed to the court a state utilities commission order issued Sept. 25, barring new gas heating installations.

Mr. Conscientious Motorist

Dependable, Ohio

Dear Sir:

Your presence in our service department last week caused us to pause momentarily and give the matter careful consideration.

We noticed the friendly attitude our service department personnel extended you while you were asking about needed repairs to your car. You, as is true with thousands of motorists, were puzzled about various mechanical workings of your car, and our personnel, as busy as they were, took time to explain the nature and need of the necessary repairs. They realized that you wanted and deserved the truth.

Then we watched while our service manager explained the accurate estimate of the cost and the time your car would be available. You left our office completely assured that your car would receive the finest attention possible and that it would be ready at the stated time.

We appreciate your business and we know you will not hesitate to return when the need arises again because we, too, now understand why you placed such confidence in our men.

Very truly yours,

PALESTINE LICENSES BIBLICAL SHEPHERDS

By The United Press

JERUSALEM—An ordinance of the Palestine government has made shepherding a licensed job.

It is decreed that "shepherd's licenses" are to be granted only to "fit and proper persons" of a minimum age of 10 years.

The Palestine shepherd is associated the world over with Biblical reminiscences. He may have lost something of his importance in this age, which encroaches on free pastures. Nevertheless there are enough shepherds in Palestine to resurrect a vital feature of the old Biblical landscape.

Every Arab village has its flocks of sheep and goats, which roam the hillsides, bearing the distinguishing marks of the owners. Native town dwellers also keep small livestock. Their passing herds are seen frequently even on the asphalted roads of the cities.

Sheep and goats predominate because the lack of grass confines the bigger cattle to their stables after the sun of the summer has scorched the pastures. Jewish villagers of the hill settlements keep big herds, which after spring they send down to graze over the harvested fields of the wheat-growing colonies.

The most picturesque of all are the nomad shepherds, tending poor flocks of sheep and goats in the Jordan valley. The war brought to Palestine the spectacle of Biblical herds, when tens of thousands of sheep, bought in Iraq, passed through the country on the last stage of their migration to the government's livestock depots.

They are gone now, but there are still enough sheep and shepherds in Palestine to make a "shepherds ordinance" the theme of topical discussion.

Couldn't Produce Girl, Lipstick Alibi Fails

PORTLAND, Me.—Portland police, trying to stop false fire alarms covered alarm handles with an indelible dye. A young man soon was arrested with a prominent red stain on his right hand.

He offered an unexpected defense. The stain, he said, was produced by lipstick, which he had wiped off his mouth after kissing a girl. He was told, "Produce the girl!"

He couldn't and was fined $50.
